

Inventory Control

In a sea of tires and service parts, it's difficult to keep track of items as they come and go. With TireMaster, you can ensure that you've got the merchandise customers need and manage your inventory without breaking a sweat.

What's keeping my employees from selling the items my customers need?

Barriers

- Difficulty finding a specific item
- Can't tell which items are in stock
- Hard to identify slow moving and most popular items
- Replenishing inventory is time consuming
- Difficulty updating the cost of items in a product line

Breakthroughs

- Ability to search for specific tire sizes, brands, and models
- Color codes identify sale, slow moving, and spiff items
- Various reports show how many items sold during a user-defined date range
- Suggested reorder based on preset stocking levels
- Pricing wizard lets you update the cost and selling price of multiple items in minutes

With TireMaster, you can easily keep tabs on every item that you sell—including services, nonstock parts, and labor—without wasting time. Changing prices and restocking merchandise takes only a few minutes, and information about every item is readily available before, during, and after the sale.

Additional Features

- Warning appears at point of sale when an item's quantity drops below zero
- Color codes identify slow moving, spiff, and sale items
- Ability to link items to photos, web sites, or specifications sheets
- Price levels for selling items to select customers at special rates
- Options for displaying items on inventory list, including price, size, and quantity
- Ability to receive items on a packing list and price them later
- Sales can be set up weeks in advance
- Bulk editing lets you update settings and prices for multiple items at once
- Reports with month-to-date, year-to-date, and last year's quantities sold
- Master list of items plus lists of discontinued, sale, and consignment items
