

Inventory Exchange

When your customer needs a product you don't have, would it help to know instantly if one of your other locations, or even another dealer, has it?

You no longer need to make a series of phone calls to find out whether another store has the item you need. The Inventory Exchange Program allows you and other participating TireMaster users to share current quantity information. Because you immediately know if your other stores or friendly competitors have the item, you can reassure your customer that it is available to purchase from you.

Using the Inventory Exchange Program can also help you fend off inventory-control problems. An item that's popular at one store might be a slow-mover at another. Adding that item to your stock helps you prevent an inventory shortage and reduces the risk of aged inventory at the other store.

For the managers of multiple stores, the Inventory Exchange Program can have additional benefits. They can use it to add new items, update prices, and set sale dates at one location, then send the changes to other stores in the inventory-exchange group.

The Inventory Exchange Program helps you:

- Locate items you need quickly
- Avoid stock outs of popular items
- Eliminate slow-moving items
- Update the inventories of multiple stores
- Keep customers happy by having access to what they need
